ARE YOU AGED 55 OR OLDER?

IF SO, WE WOULD LIKE TO FIND OUT WHAT YOU THINK ABOUT ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES

In June 2012 the environment will once again be in the international spotlight as world leaders descend on Rio de Janeiro (Brazil) for the United Nations Conference for Environment and Development or "Earth Summit".

We want to know what people aged 55 and over from around the world think about environmental issues at this current time.

Evidence shows that older people can be disproportionately affected by environmental problems such as air pollution, climate change-related heat waves and other natural disasters.

It's important that seniors around the world make their voices heard so that policy makers can take action to better prepare for the needs of an ageing population.

This short questionnaire is an attempt to address this "missing voice" and to widen involvement by seeking your views on the environmental issues of primary concern and your ideas for tackling them.

The On-line survey consists of 29 questions divided into four sections and should take about 10-15 minutes to complete and will close on 15 April 2012.
